What would you do?

eslvideo.com Quiz by: rmd

1. Why does Phoebe want Rachel to get off the plane?

○ a.) She recently read an article about faulty flanges on DC-10 aircraft.

○ b.) She has a feeling that something is wrong with the plane.

2. Where is Rachel going?

○ a.) She doesn't say.

○ b.) Paris, France

○ c.) Japan

3. Is Phoebe (the woman in the car) absolutely certain that there is something wrong with the plane?

○ a.) Yes

○ b.) No

4. Who is more superstitious?

○ a.) the passenger

○ b.) Rachel

5.) What does Rachel ask for?

○ a.) peanuts

○ b.) She asks the man to calm down.

6.) Is there anything wrong with the plane?

○ a.) Yes, it doesn't have a phalange.

○ b.) No, there isn't anything wrong with the plane.

Transcript

PHOEBE: You don't have any other choice!
ROSS: Phoebe!
RACHEL: Hello?
PHOEBE: Rachel! Oh, good! Hey, by the way, did you just get on the plane?
RACHEL: Yeah.
PHOEBE: For what it's worth, we would have caught her if we were at the right airport. Hey, Rachel, hang on..
RACHEL: Phoebe, is everything okay?
PHOEBE: Um, actually no. No, you, you have to get off the plane.
RACHEL: What? Why?
PHOEBE: I have this feeling that something's wrong with it. Something is wrong with the left phalange.
RACHEL: Oh, honey. I'm sure there's nothing wrong with the plane. All right, look, I have to go. I love you and I will call you the minute I get to Paris.
PASSENGER: What was that?
RACHEL: Oh, that was just my crazy friend. She told me I should get off the plane because she had a feeling that there was something wrong with the left phalange.
PASSENGER: Okay, uh, that doesn't sound good.
RACHEL: I wouldn't worry about it. She's always coming up with stuff like this, and you know what?
She's almost never right.
PASSENGER: But she is sometimes.
RACHEL: Well... What are you doing? (Whaddaya doin?)
PASSENGER: Okay, well I can't take this plane now.
FLIGHT ATTENDANT: Excuse me, sir. Where you going?
PASSENGER: I have to get off this plane, okay? Uh, her friend has a feeling something's wrong with the left phalange.
RACHEL: Could I get some peanuts?
PASSENGER 2: What's wrong with plane?

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: There's nothing wrong with the plane.

PASSENGER: Haha. The left phalange?

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: There's no phalange.

PASSENGER: Oh, my god. This plane doesn't even have a phalange!

PASSENGER 3: Well, I'm not flying on it.

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: Ma'am, please sit down.

PASSENGER 4: What's going on?

PASSENGER: We're all getting off. There is no phalange!

RACHEL: This is ridiculous.