I've been afraid for so long
That maybe I would never see you again
Scared that you'd just fade away
Like one single word
Could make our whole world fall apart
Even heaven can't rewrite
The wish I'm holding deep inside
But all I want is
For you to live the life you chose
You're not alone tonight
The whole wide world
Will stand right by your side
If all the fighting disappeared
If we could learn to forgive
Maybe this world would finally shine
If these walls all fell away
We'd see a sky we've never known
We could reach so much higher
If all the fighting disappeared
If we could learn to forgive
Maybe this world would finally shine
There were nights I closed my eyes
Trying to imagine your tomorrow
Wondering if you'd find the light
Even after all the tears we cried
Every scar becomes a story
Every step can lead us home
So keep believing
There's a place where you belong
Your heart is stronger than you know
Beyond the darkness
There's still a light to follow
If all the fighting disappeared
If we could learn to forgive

Maybe this world would finally shine
If these walls all fell away
We'd see a sky we've never known
We could reach so much higher
No matter how far we're torn apart
I'll still believe in who you are
One day these broken hearts will heal
And love will be enough
