the inventor of the light bulb Thomas Edison the young Edson Arantes do Nascimento certainly showed plenty of invention in his career and lit up many football pitches with his skills Pelé himself explained in a tweet in 2014 that he was named after the inventor as when he was born electricity had just been introduced to his father's town number nine he was friends with Nelson Mandela Pelé gave up a family vacation to participate in the 2007 90 minutes for Mandela charity match in honor of the 89th birthday of the South Africa president at a joint press conference Pele presented Mandela with a signed jersey which the latter calls a Priceless gift that he cherished for the rest of his life he was my hero my friend and also a companion to me in our fight for the people and for World Peace Pelé tweeted following Mandela's 2013 death also calling the leader one of the most influential people in his life number eight pele's father was a footballer too Pele was born on October 23 1940 in Três Corações Minas Gerais Brazil his father was João Ramos do Nascimento Dondinho, who was also a soccer player and his mother was Celeste Arantes he had two younger siblings Pelé 's father played as a center for for Atletico Mineiro, fluminence and several other smaller soccer clubs Dondinho was not only pele's father but also his mentor and Coach number seven his first contract was worth ten dollars a month at the age of 15 Pelé signed his first contract with Santos in 1956 earning just ten dollars a month Pele used the money to buy his mother a gas stove even though there were no gas lines running into homes in their town at the time years later he signed a three-year 7 million dollar contract with the New York Cosmos in 1975 making him the highest paid team athlete in the world at the time number six he once played indoor football in his mid-teens Pele played indoor football commonly known as Futsal the game is an association football based game played on a hard court smaller than a football pitch and has mainly played indoors indoor football had just become popular in Bauru when Pele began playing it he was part of the first fustal competition in the region and he played for a team called Radium Pele and his team won the first championship and several others with the ball on the floor being a lot quicker than football on the grass and players being close together everyone was required to think faster Pele credits Futsal for helping him think better on the spot and being a great footballer number five goals goals goals the Brazil and Santos star wasn't someone who was happy scoring just one goal he scored 92 hat-tricks four goals on 31 occasions 5 goals on six occasions and he once scored eight in a single match if only Fantasy Football was around in those days number four multiple World Cup winner Pele was part of the Brazilian national teams that won three World Cup championships in 1958 1962 and 1970. Pele is the only footballer to have been on three World Cup winning teams coincidence we think not number three Pele day pay late scored his 1 000th goal on November 19 1969 against Vasco de Gama in Rio do janeiro Maracana Stadium causing the day to be simply known as Pele day in Santos We wouldn’t begrudge the legend a day of his own In fairness number two Pele is a knight, for his humanitarian work and activism Queen Elizabeth II awarded Pele the honorary title King commander of the British Empire kbe in 1997. despite not being a British descent Pele was appointed by the United Nations educational scientific and cultural organization as its Champion for sport in 1994 and Goodwill Ambassador for Unicef in 1996. it will always stay in my memory he tweeted in 2020 of his honorary Knighthood I thank all the British people for their affection number one he's a Brazilian national treasure literally Pele gained the attention of European clubs such as Real Madrid Juventus Inter Milan and Manchester United after leading Brazil to its first World Cup victory 1958 to prevent Pele from being traded to foreign teams Brazilian president Jânio Quadros declared him a national treasure in 1961. well first of all it was an honor for me but I pay income tax like anybody else he joked to Esquire magazine in 2016. this was all for today we hope you liked the video
